

ABSTRACT

BICYCLING MOTIVATION SURVEY ON THE SUMENEP CYLING CLUB (NSCC) ROADBIKE DURING THE COVID-19 PANDEMIC IN 2021

ANSHARI

NPM:17852011A001871

Keywords: Intrinsic and Ekstrinsic Motivation, Bicycle, Covid-19 Pandemic .

At this time many people are competing to use bicycles, especially in a pandemic situation, so that until now cycling is a very good sport in this pandemic situation, and until now many people have joined a bicycle community, Therefore, in this study, the researcher wanted to know the motivation for cycling during the Covid-19 pandemic. In this problem, the researcher aims to find out the interest and motivation for cycling on the Sumenep Cyling Club (RSCC) Roadbike during the 2021 Covid-19 pandemic.

The type of research in this study is to use descriptive qualitative research methods which intend to obtain information from informants or sources and revealing findings by describing comprehensively the data obtained in the field related to cycling motivation during the COVID-19 pandemic in 2021. Description of the data presented using observation, interviews and documentation, and sampling of 10 people was carried out at the Roadbike Sumenep Cyling Club (RSCC) community.

The results of the study show that the motivation for cycling in the Sumenep Cyling Club (RSCC) Roadbike community is mostly raised due to the Covid-19 pandemic situation, the activities carried out in this pandemic situation such as cycling activities are nothing but to maintain immunity in the body to avoid the virus attack some even assess the benefits of cycling activities. and also most of the motivation is generated due to intrinsic and extrinsic factors, one of which is support from the family so that they can do cycling activities. Overall, the motivation for Roadbike Sumenep Cyling Club (RSCC) comes from within the individual and the motivation comes from outside the individual.