

ABSTRACT

Rozita, Nuraini 2022. Dynamics of Kangean Students' Greetings in Communicating at STKIP PGRI Sumenep: supervisor I: E.A.A. Nurhayati. M.Hum, supervisor II: Suhartatik.M.Pd. STKIP PGRI Sumenep thesis. Study Program : Indonesian Language and Literature Education

. Students on the STKIP PGRI Sumenep campus are relatively diverse, they come from various regions, both from mainland Madura and in the islands. Students from the Kangean Islands when they are on the STKIP PGRI Sumenep campus will give birth to different language variations, especially greeting words. Greeting is one of the most important language components. The greeting can determine whether an interaction can continue or not.

Theoretically, this research used a sociolinguistic approach, because the sociolinguistic approach examines language related to the speaking community, and the language used as communication by the community, including students with one another.

The data collection procedure in this study used the listening method, with tapping techniques. This technique was realized by using free listening and speaking techniques, recording techniques and note-taking techniques. This is done so that the data obtained is in the form of good and correct data.

The results of the research on the dynamics of greeting between ethnic Madurese students at STKIP PGRI Sumenep are 1 Kangean student across dialects including Ako, Eson, keta, Engko' and some others, 2) Forms of greeting II for Kangean students across dialects including Kao, Kake, Peyang, Bè'nâ and others, 3) the form of kinship greetings including, Mang, Leng, Mbak, Kakak, 4) the form of greeting based on nicknames including Tiul, Luspi Uang, Mocay and some others, 5) other forms of greeting in Among them there are, Beb, Say, Bestie, Anjay and others. In addition to the forms in this research, there are also Fungi and Greeting Meanings.

Keywords: student, greeting, form.

