

. ABSTRACT

This research is a qualitative research which aims to describe the role of the black walet strait pencak silat college in building the nationalism of its members. Nationalism is an understanding to love one's own nation and country. The black swallow strait pencak silat college has an important role in building the nationalist attitude of its members. In addition, the challenges faced by universities are certainly not an easy thing. Colleges are considered to have experience interacting with other people so that universities have an important meaning in the lives of their members.

This study took 3 (three) respondents, consisting of one professor, one trainer, and one active member. Methods of data collection using observation techniques, interviews and documentation. The observation technique was carried out by one observer using anecdotal methods. The interview technique is carried out in a focused manner by preparing the things that will be discussed. Research data analysis is descriptive.

The results of this study indicate that in training members are required to always prioritize good morals to realize an attitude of nationalism. This is evidenced by the existence of a period of steadfastness, a period of oath, and a period of mental testing which are the college's efforts to foster an attitude of tolerance and love for the homeland to all its members.

Keywords: pencak silat, nationalism, members

