

THE RELATIONSHIP BETWEEN PARENTING AND STUDENT'S LEARNING

MOTIVATION AT MTs RAUDLATUL ULUM BLUTO

Ragil Armadhani

Abstract

Keywords : Parenting Motivation, Learning Motivation, Social Status

Parenting style is one of the best ways parents can take in educating children as an embodiment of a sense of responsibility to children. This attitude is reflected in certain parenting patterns. Social status is an extreme factor in the subject of learning, has an important role in the development of children in the family. One of the factors in students who determine the success or failure of students in the learning process is motivation to learn. Learning motivation must be instilled in children early on. Someone who has strong motivation will have a lot of energy in learning. In this study using quantitative engineering research with correlational types which uses findings regarding data obtained in the field is processed using SPSS version 16.0 for windows.

The method in this study uses interview techniques, observation and questionnaire instruments, this is done to obtain data related to the subject of research. The results of this study are questionnaires distributed to students on August 4, 2012. This shows that the hypothesis in this study has a significant relationship or influence between the relationship between parenting parents and learning motivation